Set in an elevated position on Sierra El Hacho with sweeping views over the picturesque valley and toward the dramatic Sierra Huma, this beautifully constructed countryside property offers both tranquility and opportunity. Located just a short seven-minute drive from the historic town of Álora, the home occupies a generous 17,000-square-metre plot and provides an outstanding combination of privacy, modern comfort, and development potential. Built to an excellent standard by the well-respected local builder, the property also benefits from a Licence of First Occupation (LPO), ensuring full legal status and peace of mind for future owners. The main residence, with a built area of 150 square metres, is currently divided into two spacious, self-contained...(Ask for More Details!)
